Peonies are often esteemed for their intoxicating fragrance. Their scents range from sweet and rosy to citrus and spicy. However, not all peonies are fragrant. Below are some of the top-rated fragrant peonies in our Peony Garden. Smell and compare, then pick a favorite!

Fragrant Peonies

- Madame Calot
- Octavie Demay
- Madame Emile Lemoine
- Nymphaea
- James Kelway
- Sarah K. Thurlow
- Do Tell
- Albert Crousse
- Duchess de Nemours
- Mary Brand
- Mignon
- Primever
- Christine Gowdy
- Bayadere
This classic white peony has an intoxicating aroma and beautiful appearance.

This early pink double peony produces many flowers on sturdy stems and has a strong fragrance.

This white peony opens with crimson streakes on the inner petals and a flush of tiny pink dots that fade to a creamy white.

This creamy white peony is flushed with pink, and a rich gold color is suffused throughout the flower. Its petals form a tuft in the center.

This anemone-type peony has creamy white outer petals, sometimes splashed with crimson, and a center of narrow yellow petals that become lighter with age.

Red peonies are often not fragrant, but Mary Brand breaks the stereotype with its pleasing aroma.

This elegant peony blooms pink and turns to soft white when fully open. It has a rich rose

The peony is known to many as having a lovely fragrance, yet some sources say it has no scent at all. Regardless, this fluffy, loose-flowered peony makes a lovely addition to any garden.

This double white peony has large, translucent white overlapping petals with an inner yellow glow from intermingled stamens. It has excellent foliage and a strong scent.

This creamy rose-pink peony is a profuse bloomer with compact ball-like flowers and a mild fragrance.

This pink-flowering variety is somewhat dwarf and has a distinct collar of narrow, almost white petals.

This creamy rose-pink peony is a profuse bloomer with compact ball-like flowers and a mild fragrance.

This peony blooms a pale pink and fades to white as it opens. It has a smooth center and a strong rose-scent.

This anemone-type peony has creamy white outer petals, sometimes splashed with crimson, and a center of narrow yellow petals that become lighter with age.

This peony creates a bold contrast with its orchid pink outer petals and its thin reddish pink inner petals. It has a light citrus fragrance.

Year indicates first commercial introduction.